

FSO SERVICES NEWS

NOVEMBER 2023

We help clients maintain a simple and compliant security program.

End-Of-Year Checklists

Having a task list of items to close out each year is crucial for maintaining your industrial security program.

It is an excellent idea to do a self-inspection, but there are several other things, such as insider threat reviews, reviews/revisions to operating procedures, and employee training.

We provide our clients with turnkey support that includes templates and checklists.

If you want to discuss your end-of-year process, contact us to learn more about how we can help.

ABOUT FSO-SERVICES

Our services are centered around proven policies, procedures and training that deliver compliance with government security requirements.

To learn more, visit our new website: www.fso-services.com.

Follow us on LinkedIn

Preparing For an Audit

Preparing for an audit can be stressful, but it doesn't have to be.

It's a great idea to have an outside party like FSO Services review your security program and close any gaps prior to DCSA reviewing your security structure.

We frequently find items that are overlooked or missing that we help correct before the audit.

This helps achieve a superior audit result and protects your programs, contracts, and the data you access.

Monthly Security Awareness Communication

It is required to conduct a security briefing with your cleared employees at least once a year. However, providing a monthly security awareness newsletter helps address important topics and remind all of your people that they play a large part in securing your organization and the national security information you have access to. A simple newsletter that covers threat vectors and recent security-related events goes a long way toward establishing a robust industrial security program. If you would like more information about our monthly security awareness process, please visit fso-services.com.

Happy Thanksgiving! See You At I/ITSEC!

We wish everyone an enjoyable, fulfilling, and wonderful Thanksgiving holiday with family and friends! For all of those attending I/ITSEC, we hope to see you at the show!